and Buildings submitted to the Council a few days ago recommends that the con mittee bave power to advertise "for the erection of the City Hall, substituting the Ohlo sandstone for granite for all elevations above the water-table of the first sto rv. granite to constitute the material up to said water-table."

This report was laid on the table, the Council no doubt being willing to have, the opinions of the people before act-the opinions of the people before acting.

It is clear that to build the City Hall with $300,060, either the Myers plan must be abandoned or the building must be erected of sandstone on granite basement-walls.

The objection to dropping the Myers plan is that it is an architectural success, and its arrangement of offices meets all the requirements. It is scarcely hoped that any other plan will equal it in these respects.

requirements. It is scarcely hoped that any other plan will equal it in these respects.

As to the sandstone, while it is no doubt a good building material, Mr. Wilson, who represented the sandstone companies before the committee, never claimed that it was as good as granite. It is cheaper certainly. To use it here in our chief public building will be to advertise that fact to the disadvantage of our granite. In the committee necting there seemed to be little sentiment in favor of the use of sandstone, but the report goes to show now that the idea is, at least, entertained.

So the Council will soon be forced to decide whether they will use sandstone above a granite basement, or will vote $50,000 more to build the hall according to the modified plan, or $100,000 to build it according to the original plan.

In the first place, there is no absolute assurance that $300,000 will build it of sandstone. Mr. Wilson spoke in very general terms on this point. He said the sum would not "much" exceed $300,000.

As to the modified plan, it seems to meet the approval of Colonel Cutshaw, and would give us a very handsome granite building of the general style, but richer in oramentation and of stone of a higher grade than the Seventh-Street Christian church.

For $400,000—$100,000 more than the committee now have in hand—the city can

For $400,000-$100,000 more than the committee now have in band—the city can have a still richer granite building; have one with far more cut-stone ornamentation than to $250,000.

one with far more cut-stone ornamentation than for $350,000.

What will the City Council do? What do the people wish? Preclous time is being lost, and action ought to be hastened. It is a great pity that the winter, when so much of the work of preparation could be done, is to be lost. Early action is needed. Sooner or later the City Council will have to pass upon all the questions presented. to pass upon all the questions presented, and doubtless as soon as they hear the opinions of their constituents they will be prepared to take up and discuss the re-

Watt & Call's Foundry in Flames and Belvin's Furniture-Pactory and Duke's Sta bles Eurued.

Last night at 8:30 o'clock an alarm of fire was turned in from the First police-station. Later a second alarm was turned in, and the entire Fire Department responded.

The fire was in the moulding department of Watt & Call's agricultural implement-factory, No. 1518 Franklin street, but it soon extended itself to the furniture factory of Mr. Preston Belvin in rear of Watt & Call's. The inflammable material here caused the blaze to burst into great brilliancy, the light of which could be seen all over the city.

caused the bizze to burst into great briliancy, the light of which could be seen all over the city.

The Fire Department responded promptly, and worked actively in their efforts to subdue the flames, but they did not arrive in time to prevent the fire from taking hold of Belvin's factory. If this had been prevented the fire would not have been so obstinate. As it was, the blaze became very flerce, and the tiremen had tough work. It was very cold, and the spray from the water-streams froze upon the garments of the firemen, and made the streets icy and slippery. From Belvin's factory the fire communicated to the stables occupied by Thomas Duke, on Franklin street, but Mr. Duke took the precaution to remove all the horses, and even his provender. Consequently the only loss here was that resulting from the burning of the building. The horses in the stable were carried out and quartered in other stables. At one time it was thought that the stables owned by Mr. John B. Davis would be devoured by the flery element, as well as the large canning establishment belonging to Mr. Davis, but these escaped.

The blaze attracted a great crowd, and it was past midnight before the fire was put out.

In the private stable of Mr. Call, situated in the rear of the building, a borse was burned to death. The office of Watt & Call and the finishing department of the establishment were not injured. The principal loss here was in the patterns in the moulding department. The insurance could not be ascertained last night, but Mr. Call said it was very slight.

Mr. Belvin's loss was heavy, but is covered by insurance. The other losses are upon the stables, and it was said last night they are also covered by insurance.

In all, the loss of property will reach $30,000.

A TALK WITH THE EXPLORER.

tiestive Peeple Airsedy Acquiries Civilimius—
A Berlin letter to the Tröbuse says: In conversation with Mr. Stanley this morning I have succeeded in glooning many details of interest in relation to the Congo question. There is probably at this moment in Berlin no man more busy or more overwhelmed with callers and invitations than he. He is, in short, the hero of the bour at the German capital, but when I called at 11 to-day, by appointment, at the Hotel Royal, the great expiorer at once excused himself from his other guests, and, conducting me to his private parlor, bademe be seated, enseoneed himself in another fauturil opposite me, and announced his readiness to answer any question I might desire to propound.

"I learned, Mr. Stanley," said I, "that the conference yesterday practically adopted your definition of the term 'Congo Basin'—that is, a truct including not only the course of the stream itself, but the region commercially tributary to it."

"Yes—the Congo Basin, as now defined, is based upon the proposition made by the American members of the Conference, and urged by Mr. Kasson in his speech the other day. It takes in a strip of territory stretching from the west coast across the continent to the Indian ocean, with a littoral of 385 miles—i. e., from Ambriz to the French Gaboon frontler, on the Atlantic littoral, as being the accessible one, and the natural geographical avenue of trade from and to Europe. So far as the country to the castward of Stanley Pool goes that is another matter which time can develop. We are talking now of the western side of the territory referred to."

"Will you, or the other American representatives, take any active participation in the next question—to-w t, English claims on the Niger, which is so be brought before the Conference?"

About haif-past 6 o'clock this morning the fast-truin on the Pennsylvania railroad, which passes through this city at twenty-five minutes past 5, was thrown from the track about one hundred yards east of Christinia by a broken rail. Two passenger-cars and a Pullman sleeper were thrown down the embankment and partly submerged in the water of the dam. Conductor Rowan had his hand slightly cut and an unknown passenger had his nead cut, but luckily none of the other passengers were injured. Trains west were delayed for about half an hour, but eastern travel was obstructed for six hours.

"About three weeks longer, or up to Christmas-time, possibly."

"What will be the next step taken in case the Conference takes such action as it is ex-pected to toward opening the Congo region to trade?" "About three weeks longer, or up to Christmas-time, possibly."

"We shall at once proceed to build a raifroad—by we I mean the International-Association—we taking half the stock, and putting the remainder on the market for such capitalists as want to come in. The upper and lower regions of the Cougo are navigable, but are broken in two by the falls, making necessary a portage of 235 amiles. This portage is, however, somewhat reduced by the fact that for seventy he was a fact that for the entire distance, or the 235 miles, it will cost cl.foo,000. If, on the other hand, we avail ourselves of the extra eighty naturable white, we shall have 147 miles of road to build at a cost of stock and the seventy will be seventy and the left of the probable water of the seventy will be seventy and the left of the fact that for will be seventy and the left of the fact that for will be seventy and the left of the fact that for will be seventy to the fact that for the fact that fo

"They have thus far always been friendly, and have given us every assistance. They are the most imitative people in the world-more so even than the Chinese-and they seem to feel a pride in associating with Europeans and adopting their manners and ways. I do not think any danger whatever is even to be apprehended from uprisings or attacks by the natives. Of course when strangers begin to pour in, as they undoubtedly will, it will be the duty of the Association to see that imposition and outrages upon the natives are prevented. The weaker race in this case will not as in the

it no doubt will be?"

"Well, you can form an idea when I tell you that while the 2,900 miles of seacoast now open to trade and settlement are already dotted with European settlements—French, German, English, Portuguese, and Dutch—very few Americans—this new arrangement will throw open 10,000 more miles of new water-front to similar peopling. Traders will at once pour in therefrom all parts of the world, and they will be the pioneers, whose influence will gradually extend further and further in, ultimately opening up that entire section of the African continent to civilization and commerce."

At this point Mr. Stanley was called upon

At this point Mr. Stanley was called upon by other visitors, and my interview with him terminated.

I learn that from to-day protocols of the proceedings of the Conference are being furnished officially to the Berlin press. This is in marked contrast to the privacy which has hitherto characterized the sittings, and may be ascribable to the enterprise of the London Times, whose correspondent in this city forwarded by telegraph on the first Saturday that the Conference met a pretty full report, which report was telegraphed back from London on Monday, after the Times had published it, to two of the Berlin papers. As this

An Easton (Pa.) special says: A story has leaked out at Latayette College, which skows the danger of hazing freshmen. Two upper classmen at the dead of night tered a freshman's room, masked and rying dark lanterns. His room-mate, was in the joke, shouted murder, and the freshman, in the excitement consequent upon being aroused from sleep, grasped his revolver and fred. It was loaded with powder and wad, and the latter struck one of the hazers in the ueck, necessitating the use of a surgeon's knife to remove it. Had the pistol contained a bail it would have killed the hazer. tered a freshman's roc weaker race in this case will not, as in the case of the American Indian, die out. It will assimilate."
"Are the Africans favorable to methods of civilization?"

"You would say so could you see some of the dwellings they have put up. I know of twenty or thirty black men who have been for ten years or more trading with the whites, and who have imported from England three-story iron dwellings costing them each £4,000 or £5,000, which they have paid in 'palm-oil or palm-kernels. They live in these houses with their wives and children, with chairs and tables and carpeted floors, and a great variety of chean brica-brag, mirrors, etc., which they It is denied that Lieutenant Rhodes is suffering from injuries received at the Gay Head wreck, C. and children, with chairs and tables and carpeted fleors, and a great variety of cheap bric-a-brac, mirrors, etc., which they have a passion for acquiring. I know of one German trader, a Mr. Schultz, representing a Berlin house, who makes a regular business in this way. He imports a complete set of parlor furniture, pictures, ornaments, etc.; puts them all in place in a room in his house, and then invites a wealthy black to dine with him there. After dinner, the guest admires the surroundings, and is finally permitted as a favor to purchase them entire. They are at once removed to an apartment in his Englishbuilt dwelling—he pays in oil a good round price—and then the trader sends home an order for another set, invites another guest to ainner, and so on."

"Is the climate of that region healthy for Europeans? For instance, were one hundred colonists from Saxeny to go down there, how many of them would probably be alive at the end of the year?"

"That depends. Suppose, for instance, that you, fresh from the comforts of European life, take a steamer ticket from Siverpool to Vivi, on the Congo. You go ashere, and strike inland over the portuge for Leopoldville. The heat, the tremendous efforts required at times to push your
